

SOCIETY

THREE SISTERS WHO ARE FAVORITES IN SOCIETY.

Of Mrs. Henry Sloane Coffin, who arrived yesterday, the San Francisco Chronicle of May 28 says:

"The smart set of Marin county is busy these days planning many delightful affairs for Mrs. Conrad Babcock and Mrs. Henry Sloane Coffin, who are visiting here. They are sisters of Mrs. John Lawson, who, as well as her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farnese Eells, have been entertaining for them during the past fortnight."

"It is the first time in several years that the three sisters have been here at the same time. They are all social favorites of this city and Ross, where they lived during their girlhood, and their friends are making the most of the opportunity of having them here together again."

"Mrs. Coffin, who was Miss Dorothy Eells, has lived in New York since her marriage to Rev. Henry Sloane Coffin, although she has made occasional visits here, the last time about three years ago. Mrs. Babcock, who was Miss Marion Eells, is the wife of Capt. Babcock, United States Army, and her visits to California have been more or less dependent on the orders of Uncle Sam. For the past two years they have been stationed at Fort Huachuca, Ariz. Capt. and Mrs. Babcock arrived in San Francisco some weeks ago following Capt. Babcock's illness, and have since been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Eells at their home here. They will leave June 1 for their new post at Honolulu."

COLLEGE OF HAWAII BANQUET.

Last Saturday evening more than a hundred of the students, faculty, regents and friends of the College of Hawaii celebrated the fifth annual banquet of the institution at the Outrigger Canoe Club. The long tables placed in the Ewa pavilion, banked with flowers and greens and set in elegant style, were most inviting. An air of informality and good fellowship, lacking in the more stately affairs, pervaded the scene and laughter and merriment were the order of the night and the constant clapping of myriads of pennants, progressed space. Mr. Harold Starratt, as toastmaster, introduced the various speakers with a few well timed remarks, which afforded considerable amusement and left the guests in a state of pleasant anticipation.

President Arthur J. Dean spoke briefly on "College Spirit," defining it as the willingness to give of one's self in support of every college enterprise. William Starratt presented "Hindrances to the Progress of the College," in which he pointed out the football and basketball, Mr. J. G. Smith offered a few remarks and Mr. Arnold Rosenberg read a clever parody on Gray's "The Raven" in which he and humor. Then Mr. Wallace R. Farrington was "glad" there was a College of Hawaii, and the College of Hawaii was certainly glad there was a Mr. Farrington. Jack London told several laughable stories. Starratt danced a jig, and Eaton McGoon and Joseph Meinecke each contributed a solo. Leslie Clark read the legend of the "Kimp of Learning," and as a final rite the historical lamp was passed by Richard Goo, one of this year's graduates, to Leslie Hicks of the class of 1917 to guard and keep during the coming year.

Immediately upon the conclusion of the program the Hawaiian quintet burst forth into a lively one-step, and dancing was enjoyed during the remainder of the evening.

ARMY AND NAVY POLK ENTERTAINED.

The last of the informal receptions that Mrs. J. Franklin Bell has been giving since her arrival in San Francisco was held Tuesday afternoon. A similar series will be given next winter. These affairs have added much to the gaiety at Fort Mason. Tuesday's affair brought together a large number of Mrs. Bell's friends, who dropped in informally for an hour's chat and tea.

Gen. and Mrs. Bell will leave today for Monterey, making the trip by motor. They will be extensively entertained while there by their army friends at the Presidio, who are planning many delightful affairs to add to the pleasure of their visit. San Francisco Chronicle.

HAWAIIAN LUNCHEON.

The melody and charm of Hawaii was suggested in many pretty ways at the luncheon which Mrs. A. E. Gillespie gave yesterday in honor of Mrs. Alfred Hunter, wife of Col. Hunter, who goes to Honolulu soon to reside, and for Mrs. George T. Perkins, wife of Capt. Perkins of the Coast Artillery, who also leaves for the islands.

In place of the usual way of arranging flowers, Mrs. Gillespie had quantities of fresh flowers made into leis that were artistically arranged over the table. Pink and yellow, a combination much admired in Hawaii, was the color scheme and it was blended charmingly. Hawaiian singing and players furnished the lullaby music of the islands.

The other guests were the Mesdames Alfred T. Smith, J. Franklin Bell, Francis Pope, Louis Chappelle, John H. Gardner, Lee Holcombe, F. O. Johnson, Frederick Perkins, George Perkins, Thomas H. Rees, James H. Frier, M. P. Donnellan, Jarius A. Moore, William H. Brooks, John D. Barrette, Leon Cohen, Charles Ryland, Richard Craven, Oliver Hassard and Miss Adde Hunter. San Francisco Examiner.

Mr. and Mrs. Claus August Spreckels have abandoned all idea of returning to Paris and have given up their handsome apartment on the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne which they have occupied for the past six years.

At the outbreak of the war the Spreckels, like many Americans, decided that there was no place like home, and they returned to the United States in such haste that they did not bring as much as a handbag with them. Upon their arrival in New York they leased an apartment on Riverside Drive, where they expected to reside temporarily until the war was over. This being, however, still very indefinite, Mr. and Mrs. Spreckels have again decided to take up their residence in this country, and last week purchased a beautiful place on Long Island, which was formerly the property of Mr. Sherry, the celebrated New York attorney. The house, which is a real French chateau of the sixteenth century, was brought from France by Mr. Sherry and erected on his Long Island estate, which comprises a park of some 250 acres. This is for the most part natural country and contains a beautiful lake. Mr. and Mrs. Spreckels expect to be settled in their new home by June 1, and they will entertain extensively during the summer. San Francisco Examiner.
